GLIC 2027 · UX RESEARCH

WHAT WE KNOW, WHAT WE ASSUME, WHAT TO TEST

The research behind the redesign: goals, methods, key insights and how to validate them before launch.

RESEARCH STATUS

Done so far: a review of the current GLIC site and desk research. No interviews or usability tests yet. Everything marked Hypothesis is an assumption to test before launch.

GOALS

RESEARCH GOALS

01

WHY DO PEOPLE STOP BEFORE PAYING?

Find where distributors drop out between Home and a paid order, and why.

02

WHAT DO THEY NEED TO COMMIT TO THE TRIP?

Learn which facts (price tier, dates, venue, hotels, visas) decide whether they buy.

03

WHAT DO THEY NEED ON EVENT DAY?

Understand check-in, finding their zone and getting around the venue.

METHODS

METHODS AND PLAN

Done

REVIEW OF THE CURRENT SITE

Walk through glic.unicity.com on mobile against common usability heuristics.

Output: Shaped the redesign

Done

DESK RESEARCH

Event facts, ticket tiers and dates, and patterns from other event and ticketing apps.

Output: Content and structure

Planned

FUNNEL ANALYTICS

Measure drop-off from Home → Sign in → Tickets → Payment → Paid, by device.

Output: Where to focus

Planned

DISTRIBUTOR INTERVIEWS

6–8 distributors across roles, first-timers and team leaders, in Thai and English.

Output: Validate personas

Planned

USABILITY TEST

5 participants per round on the clickable prototype, using the tasks below.

Output: Fixes before build

Planned

POST-EVENT SURVEY

Short survey after GLIC 2027 on check-in, app use and the next Early Bird.

Output: Plan GLIC 2028

INSIGHTS

KEY INSIGHTS AND DESIGN RESPONSES

Each insight links to the screens that answer it. Tap a chip to open the frame.

Hypothesis

PRICE URGENCY IS HARD TO SEE

People may not know which tier they are paying or when it ends.

DESIGN RESPONSE

Show the active tier and its end date next to every Buy button.

01 Home · 01 Home 2/4

Hypothesis

THE DISTRIBUTOR ID IS A WALL

Sign-in is where intent is highest and patience lowest. A wrong ID with no help ends the visit.

DESIGN RESPONSE

Explain the ID, keep the typed value on error, and add a help sheet.

04 Sign in · 04b ID not found · 04c Find your ID

Hypothesis

A FAILED PAYMENT FEELS LIKE A LOST ORDER

Buyers aren't sure whether they were charged or whether their seats are still held.

DESIGN RESPONSE

Say the order is saved and not paid, and let them fix the card without starting over.

07b Error · 06b Fix card

Hypothesis

TICKETS GET LOST IN EMAIL

On event day, people dig through their inbox for a QR code at the busiest moment.

DESIGN RESPONSE

Keep every ticket with its QR in My ticket, and switch to an event-day view.

08 My ticket · 10 Event day

Hypothesis

TRAVEL PLANNING HAPPENS ELSEWHERE

Hotels, transport and the venue address are spread across other sites and chats.

DESIGN RESPONSE

Put Plan your trip and venue directions in the app, with one tap to Maps.

03 Explore 2/3 · 03b Venue

Hypothesis

REMINDERS SHAPE THE EXPERIENCE

Missing the check-in window or a price deadline is costly and avoidable.

DESIGN RESPONSE

Opt-in notifications for check-in, sessions and tier deadlines.

09 Notifications

USABILITY TEST

TEST PLAN · 6 TASKS

Run on the mobile prototype with 5 participants per round. Read each task aloud and don't point at screens.

#	TASK	SCREENS	SUCCESS LOOKS LIKE
1	Find out what a ticket costs today and until when.	Home 1/4 and 2/4	Says $199 and 30 Nov 2026 without help
2	Buy two Single tickets in [ZONE A].	Sign in → Tickets → Payment	Paid order with no wrong turns
3	You typed the wrong ID. Get signed in.	04b → 04c → 04	Recovers without asking for help
4	Your card was declined. Finish the purchase.	07b → 06b → 07	Knows the order is saved and completes it
5	It's 7:30 AM on 22 Jan. Get ready to check in.	Notifications → Event day	Shows the QR and names their zone
6	Find how to get from the airport to the venue.	Explore 2/3 → Venue	Opens Maps or names a way to travel

STILL TO LEARN

OPEN QUESTIONS

- Do distributors buy for themselves, or mostly for their team?
- How many travel from outside Thailand, and what do they need first?
- Do people know their Distributor ID, and where do they look for it?
- Which payment methods do they expect besides cards?
- Would they turn on event reminders, and how many is too many?

GLIC 2027 · PERSONAS

WHO WE'RE DESIGNING FOR

Three distributor types the app must serve: the team leader who buys early, the first-timer, and the group organiser.

PROTO-PERSONAS

These people are fictional, built from the team's assumptions and desk research, not interviews. Quotes are illustrative. Replace values in [brackets] and update after the distributor interviews.

MI · PRIMARY · TEAM LEADER

METAVERSE INTUITION

Team leader distributor · Bangkok

AGE: [35–44]
DEVICE: Phone first
BUYS: 2 tickets
LANGUAGE: Thai, English

> "I want to lock in the best price for me and my teammate, then not think about it until January."

Has been to GLIC before and sees it as a must for the team. Does almost everything on a phone, between meetings.

GOALS

- Buy at the lowest tier still open
- Sit with the team in one zone
- Have the QR ready without searching

FRUSTRATIONS

- Price deadlines are easy to miss
- Ticket emails get buried
- Payment declines with no clear next step

WHAT THE APP MUST DO

- Show the current price and its end date
- Two tickets, one zone, one checkout
- Tickets and QR in My ticket, offline

KEY SCREENS

01 Home · 05 Tickets · 08 My ticket

NW · FIRST-TIMER

NOK WONGSA

New distributor · Chiang Mai

AGE: [25–34]
DEVICE: Phone only
BUYS: 1 ticket
LANGUAGE: Thai

> "Is it worth it for someone who just started? And where do I even find my ID?"

Joined Unicity this year and was invited by her sponsor. Careful with money and has never been to a conference this size.

GOALS

- Understand what she gets for $199
- Feel welcome, not lost
- Plan a budget trip to Bangkok

FRUSTRATIONS

- Doesn't know her Distributor ID
- Unsure what's included in the ticket
- Worried about travel and hotel costs

WHAT THE APP MUST DO

- Clear 'why attend' and what's included
- Help to find the ID right at sign-in
- Hotels, transport and venue in one place

KEY SCREENS

03 Explore · 04c Find your ID · 03b Venue

DT · GROUP ORGANISER

DANIEL TAN

Senior leader · Kuala Lumpur

AGE: [45–54]
DEVICE: Laptop + phone
BUYS: 10-Pack (11 tickets)
LANGUAGE: English

> "I buy for my whole team. I need one order, one receipt, and everyone checked in on time."

Leads a large team across Malaysia and flies in for GLIC. Buys in bulk and coordinates travel for others.

GOALS

- Use the 10-Pack: buy 10, get 1 free
- Seat the whole team together
- Get each person their own ticket

FRUSTRATIONS

- No way to hand tickets to teammates
- Visas and flights for the team
- Chasing people at check-in

WHAT THE APP MUST DO

- Bulk checkout on desktop
- Assign or share tickets per person (gap)
- Reminders the team also receives

TICKET SHARING FOR GROUP BUYERS

Daniel buys 11 tickets, but today every ticket stays in the buyer's My ticket. Before launch, decide whether buyers can assign tickets to teammates by Distributor ID or send them by email, and add it to the flow.

DON'T LOSE THEM AT THE ID STEP

This is where intent is highest and patience is lowest. Help text, a clear error and a kept value matter most here.

MAKE "YOU'RE IN" UNMISTAKABLE

A clear success screen, order summary and one tap to My ticket turn payment anxiety into relief.

Cases the app must handle

Price tier changes by date
Show only the tier on sale (now Late $199 until 30 Nov 2026). Past tiers appear as a timeline, not as disabled buttons.

Language switch on every screen
The language button stays top right. Switching keeps the user on the same screen and keeps the chosen tickets and zone.

Going back to edit the order
Back or Edit on Payment returns to Tickets to change quantity or zone, without signing in again.

My ticket tab before purchase
With no ticket yet, this tab leads to buying one. After purchase it shows the e-ticket with the QR for check-in.
