UX DOCUMENTATION

UX research · Orbit trading app

Research plan and synthesis for first-time and active retail investors in Thailand. Participant numbers and quotes are illustrative sample content for design preview, not real study data.

RESEARCH GOALS

- Understand what stops new investors from placing a first trade.
- Find where trust, fees and order mistakes create anxiety.
- Learn how active traders monitor markets and react to news.

METHODS

- 12 interviews · 45 minutes, remote, Bangkok and regional cities
- Survey · 120 respondents, aged 22 to 60
- Usability test · 8 people on a clickable prototype
- Competitor audit · 4 Thai trading apps

PARTICIPANTS (12)

- 5 first-time investors, under 3 months in the market
- 4 active traders, 3 or more trades a week
- 3 long-term savers focused on dividends and funds

TIMELINE · 4 WEEKS

1. Week 1 · Plan, recruit, audit competitors
2. Week 2 · Interviews and survey
3. Week 3 · Synthesis, personas, journey map
4. Week 4 · Prototype test and design changes

9 / 12 stopped at ID verification at least once because the scan failed or took too long.

7 / 12 fear tapping the wrong price or quantity and losing money on a first order.

68% of survey respondents say total cost (commission and VAT) must be visible before they confirm.

4 / 8 usability testers could not find where to set a price alert on the first try.

KEY FINDINGS AND DESIGN RESPONSE

1. Trust comes before features
New users look for the regulator licence, fee summary and bank-grade security before they hand over an ID. Response: licence badge on onboarding, plain-language fee summary, Face ID and PIN.
2. Identity checks are the biggest drop-off
Low light, glare and unclear rejection reasons cause repeated scans. Response: step progress, capture tips, save and resume later, status push when approved.
3. Fear of a costly mistake
Beginners double-check every number and still hesitate to confirm. Response: order ticket with price limits, a review screen with the total, and an easy cancel.
4. Too much data, too little guidance
Long lists of tickers and indicators overwhelm beginners, while active traders want speed. Response: screener presets, a watchlist, and a company summary with analyst view.
5. Money in motion needs clear status
People want to know when a deposit is usable and when sale proceeds can be withdrawn (T+2). Response: "available to trade" labels and a withdrawable date.

COMPETITOR AUDIT · 4 THAI TRADING APPS

CAPABILITY	APP A	APP B	APP C	APP D
Fee shown before confirm	Yes	No	Partly	Yes
Save and resume ID check	No	No	Yes	No
Beginner screener presets	No	Partly	No	No

REPRESENTATIVE QUOTES

"I scanned my ID four times and it never told me what was wrong."
First-time investor, 27

"I only want to see the final amount. Then I can press confirm."
First-time investor, 31

"If it takes more than three taps, I will miss the price."
Active trader, 38

NEXT STEPS
Validate with a second round of testing.

1 · Test the new ID verification flow with 8 people in low light.
2 · Measure time to first trade and drop-off at each onboarding step.
3 · Compare the review screen with and without the cost breakdown.
4 · Track alert creation success and weekly active watchlists.

UX DOCUMENTATION

User personas · Orbit trading app

Three personas synthesized from the UX research. Names and details are fictional sample content for design preview.

PH Pharina, 29

PRIMARY

UX designer · Bangkok · The first-time investor

"I want to start, but I am afraid of pressing the wrong button."

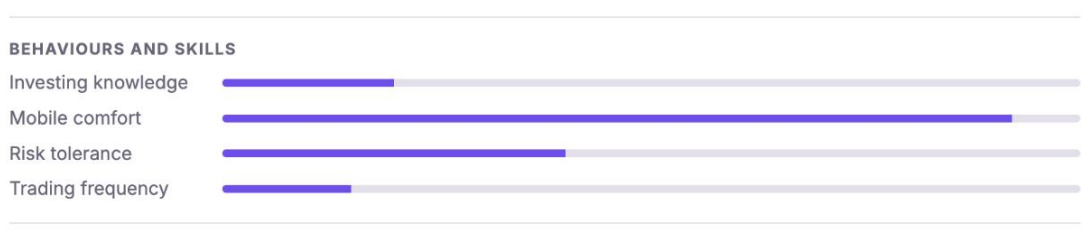
GOALS

- Invest THB 20,000 to 50,000 each month for long-term savings.
- Learn the basics without feeling judged.
- Place a first order with confidence.

FRUSTRATIONS

- Jargon and hidden costs.
- ID verification that fails with no explanation.
- Too many numbers and no guidance.

BEHAVIOURS AND SKILLS



KEY SCREENS
Onboarding · Identity · Screener · Review order · Price alert

SUCCESS LOOKS LIKE
Opens an account and places a first trade within one week, without contacting support.

SC Somchai, 38

SECONDARY

Sales manager · Chiang Mai · The active trader

"If it takes more than three taps, I will miss the price."

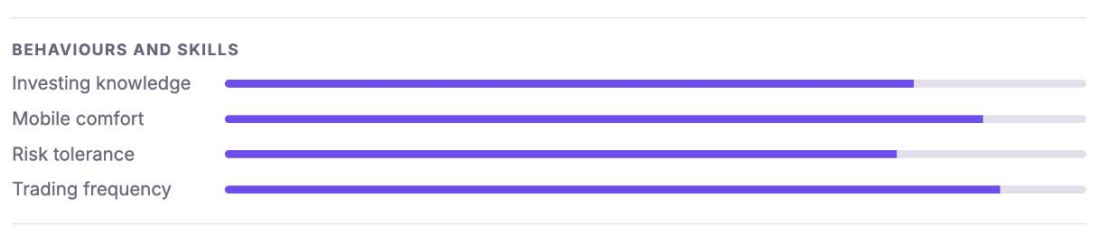
GOALS

- Catch intraday moves on SET50 stocks.
- Act on news and price alerts within seconds.
- Track open orders and profit and loss all day.

FRUSTRATIONS

- Slow screens and extra confirmation steps.
- Alerts that are noisy or arrive late.
- Cannot compare charts and the order ticket quickly.

BEHAVIOURS AND SKILLS



KEY SCREENS
Watchlist · Advanced chart · Order ticket · Orders · Notifications

SUCCESS LOOKS LIKE
Goes from alert to a confirmed order in under 20 seconds and sees fills in real time.

WR Wirat, 56

SECONDARY

Business owner · Nonthaburi · The long-term saver

"I just want to see my dividends and know my money is safe."

GOALS

- Build steady dividend income for retirement.
- Check the portfolio once or twice a week.
- Move cash in and out of the bank without worry.

FRUSTRATIONS

- Small text and crowded screens.
- Unclear settlement dates for deposits and sales.
- Fear of phishing and fake support messages.

UX DOCUMENTATION

Customer journey map · Orbit trading app

Persona journey from first discovery to repeat investing. Sample research content for design preview.

PH Pharina, 29 · UX designer · Bangkok · first-time investor

GOAL Build long-term savings by investing THB 20,000 to 50,000 each month.

NEEDS Simple steps, clear fees, and a feeling that her money is safe.

FRUSTRATIONS Jargon, hidden costs, and slow identity verification.

	1 Discover	2 Sign up and verify	3 Fund account	4 Research	5 Trade	6 Monitor	7 Withdraw and grow
ACTIONS	Sees a friend's portfolio, searches the app store, reads reviews.	Enters phone number and OTP, creates a PIN, scans ID, takes a selfie.	Links a bank account and deposits with a PromptPay QR code.	Browses markets, builds a watchlist, reads news and company financials.	Opens the order ticket, sets a limit price, reviews the total, confirms with Face ID.	Checks portfolio and open orders, sets price alerts, reads notifications.	Withdraws profit, reviews transactions, tops up for the next purchase.
TOUCHPOINTS	App store Splash Onboarding	Log in OTP Create PIN Identity	Wallet Deposit	Markets Watchlist Search Screener Stock News	Order ticket Review Order placed	Home Portfolio Orders Alert Notifications	Withdraw Transactions Profile
THOUGHTS	"Is this safe and properly regulated?"	"I hope this does not take all afternoon."	"How soon can I actually buy something?"	"Which of these fits a beginner like me?"	"Am I paying the right price? What if I tap wrong?"	"Is my money working for me?"	"That was easy. I will invest more next month."
EMOTION	Curious	Impatient	Unsure	Engaged	Nervous	Confident	Satisfied
PAIN POINTS	Unsure about trust, licensing, and fees.	ID scan fails in low light; waiting for approval.	Settlement time is unclear after depositing.	Too many numbers and no guidance on what matters.	Fear of mistakes and surprise commission on the total.	Too many notifications dilute the important ones.	Cash from sales is locked until T+2 settlement.
OPPORTUNITIES	Show the regulator licence and a fee summary on onboarding.	Live capture tips, save and resume later, status push when approved.	Credit PromptPay deposits instantly and label "available to trade".	Screener presets and plain-language stock summaries.	Show total cost up front, a clear review step, and easy cancel.	Smart alert presets and a weekly portfolio digest.	Show the withdrawable date and add a monthly invest reminder.
