CUSTOMER JOURNEY MAP

Feel Great subscription checkout

Persona: a returning Unicity member in Australia with saved cards. Scenario: customise a Feel Great Pack, subscribe monthly and pay on mobile.

- 🟥 Pain point in the original flow
- 🟦 How the redesign responds
- ⬚ Emotions and thoughts are assumptions to validate

	1 Discover	2 Add to cart	3 Shipping	4 Billing	5 Review	6 Pay	7 Confirmation	8 After purchase
CUSTOMER GOAL	Understand the pack and choose a flavour and plan	Check what's in the cart and what it costs	Enter a delivery address quickly and correctly	Pick the right card, or add a new one	Confirm everything before committing to a subscription	Know the payment worked, or what to do if not	Get proof of the order and know what happens next	Track the order and stay in control of the subscription
TOUCHPOINTS	1 · Customise 1d · Guarantee	1b · Added to cart 1c · Cart empty	2 · Shipping 2a · Empty 2b · Errors	3 · Billing 3a · New card 3b · Remove card 3c · Card error	4 · Purchase	4a · Placing order 4b · Payment failed	5 · Success Receipt email	6 · Order details Customer service

EMOTION

	1 Discover	2 Add to cart	3 Shipping	4 Billing	5 Review	6 Pay	7 Confirmation	8 After purchase
FEELING AND THOUGHT	Curious "What's actually in the pack?"	Confident "Did I pick the right plan?"	Tedious "So many fields on a small screen."	Cautious "Which card will this charge?"	Unsure "When will I be billed again?"	Anxious "Did my payment go through?"	Relieved "Done. What happens next?"	Reassured "Can I skip or cancel easily?"
PAIN POINTS ORIGINAL FLOW	• "Lemon Ginger" and "Lemon & Ginger" read as duplicates • Struck prices don't match the listed savings • No view of what's in the pack	• Add to cart jumps straight into checkout • No chance to change quantity first	• Desktop two-column form on mobile • "Zip code" and free-text State for Australia • No inline validation	• Five saved cards with equal weight • New-card form open by default • "Next: Final step" is vague	• Dense legal text, "$220" instead of AUD • Next billing date is easy to miss	• No feedback while the order is placed • No path when a payment fails	• Not covered in the screens reviewed • No clear next steps after paying	• Cancelling means contacting customer service • No order tracking in the screens reviewed
REDESIGN OPPORTUNITIES	• Swipeable photo gallery • "What's inside" cards • Live price in the button and a "Save 15 AUD" badge	• Added-to-cart sheet with quantity and savings • Remove with Undo	• Contact and address groups, Postcode, State picker • Locked email and country • Inline errors with a summary banner	• Saved cards as one selectable list • Remove asks to confirm • Inline card errors	• Ship-to, delivery and payment with Change links • "Place order · 220 AUD" and a clear next billing date	• Status steps while placing the order • Retry, or pay with another card	• Receipt email, total and next billing date in one place	• Order status timeline • Subscription card with Manage subscription
WHAT TO MEASURE	Add-to-cart rate; subscribe vs one-time mix	Cart to checkout rate; removals undone	Time to complete; field error rate	Saved-card use; card error rate	Review to order placed rate	Payment success rate; recovery after a failure	Order details views; support contacts	Skip and cancel rate; month-2 retention
